THE NEW LAND BILL.

Special.
TEX., Feb. 11.—The house committee will probably complete tomorrow and report Friday. The minimum lease five years, the settler the privilege of buying the land at present value, the additional privilege of buying sections around his homestead. The greatest hitch in the bill is over the proposition to lease for ten years and placing the power of any succeeding legislature to annul them at pleasure. Vigorously fought by Representative Browning and the anti-lease sentiment, but today refused to compromise. James Jackson, who is being at Houston on the murder of old man mittee in introducing every feature possible into the land bill for the protection of the settler in the West. Although in a hopeless minority, their handiwork is shown in many clauses lessening the harshness of the bill toward the development of the West. What could not be accomplished in committee they will fight for on the floor of the house.

XIXth LEGISLATURE.

THE SENATE.

AUSTIN, TEX., Feb. 11.—Soon after assembly this morning the senate adjourned in order to hear the discussion in the house over the female clerk bill. Mr. Temple Houston's land bill, which was made the special order for this morning, was, at his request, postponed until tomorrow.

The bill abolishing the office of fish commissioner was passed to engrossment.

THE HOUSE.

In the house the entire day was devoted to the discussion of the bill compelling the heads of departments to select one-half of their force from females. A multitude of amendments modifying the bill were offered and voted down, as also some which passed to make it apply to the legislature and entire state government instead of merely to the comptroller's, the land commissioner's and the treasurer's offices as presented in the bill.

The house was almost evenly divided on the measure, but the vote on the various amendments indicated a small majority for the advocates of the bill. Pending the discussion the house adjourned, and it will come up again tomorrow.

JEFFERSON.

Special.
JEFFERSON, TEX., Feb. 11.—Our city was again thrown into excitement this morning about 10 o'clock by the alarm of fire, which proved to be the residence of Mr. W. R. Camp. The flames were extinguished before there was much damage done.

A bootblack named Wiley, while fooling with a pistol this morning in John Sabine's saloon, accidentally discharged it, the ball hitting Mr. W. F. Chapman, engineer at Bagdad's mill, in the back. The wound is painful, but not dangerous. Dr. Eason was called in and dressed the wound.

The county commissioners' court today appointed Mr. John C. Neal justice of the peace for precinct No. 4.

WACO.

Special.
WACO, TEX., Feb. 11.—The mayorality of this city appears to be coveted honor. Two new candidates are announced in this evening's paper. One is Hon. W. H. Wilkes, the present incumbent, and the other is Col. R. B. Parrott, manager of the well-known Texas Benevolent association. Mayor Wilkes has stated that he would not be a candidate again, but has evidently changed his mind. This makes four aspirants, all, with the exception of Mayor Wilkes, wealthy men, who have the means to "put up" liberally and run a lively canvass.

The county commissioners at their session today decided to renovate the county jail and make improvements in the construction of the cell rooms, etc., to cost about ten thousand dollars. They also let out the county paper farm to a man who bid $6 a month per acre for feeding the paupers, furnishing fuel, soap, having clothes made, etc. It is free comment that the contractor will have to starve the paupers or wind up in the poor-house himself.

The weather has moderated somewhat, but assumes a phase that disheartens owners of livestock. Snow and rain have fallen at intervals and with colder weather much damage to cattle is feared.

DR. S. B. HAMMILL, a leading druggist of this city, was married to Miss Johnnie Johnson to-night, by Rev. Dr. Burleigh, in the Baptist church. The couple left immediately for New Orleans.

MR. M. MIGEL, of Palestine, wedded Miss Rebecca Goldstein of this city last night, and carried his bride to New Orleans. She is a representative of one of the most respectable Hebrew families here.

BLOSSOM PRAIRIE.

Special.
BLOSSOM PRAIRIE, TEX., Feb. 11.—The sheep ranch of Mr. S. C. Hancock was attacked by dogs yesterday. They had succeeded in killing but three when they were discovered.

Blossom Prairie is going west. The new academy seems to be the attraction, as most improvements are in that part of town. Several residences are now being built on West College street.

The latest in the business part of town is the new building of Hemphill & Co.

Ancient Roman Marriage Customs. They anointed the bride with certain unguents to keep off infection. They disenchanted it with various charms to keep the witches from the bride. Now we simply give the bride a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, telling her to take that and be happy and healthy. K-ops out such whimsies as neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia and rheumatism and helps make home delightful.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The American People are Again Reminded of the Weak Point in Their Constitution.

Inadequate Laws for the Election of the Head of the Nation and for Counting the Popular Vote.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the senate this morning a joint resolution of the legislature of Nebraska urging congress to pass a bill for the relief of settlers on the St. Joseph & Denver City railroad lands was referred.

Mr. Allison, from the committee on appropriations, reported the army appropriation bill. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Garland introduced a bill to relocate the Hot Springs reservation in Arkansas, and presented a memorial from the citizens of Hot Springs relating thereto. Referred.

The senate passed the bill providing permanent reservations for the Indians in Northern Montana.

At five minutes before 12 o'clock, a message was received announcing that the house of representatives would at 12 o'clock be ready to receive the senate, that in joint convention both houses might count the electoral votes. The chair announced that the concurrent resolution providing for joint convention would now be executed, and the senators, headed by the president pro tem, and the secretary of the senate, and preceded by the sergeant-at-arms, proceeded to the house of representatives.

At 12:55 the senators returned to the senate chamber and the president pro tem of that body having resumed the chair the tellers in the part of the senate, Messrs. Hoar and Pendleton, appeared, and on their behalf Mr. Hoar reported the result of the electoral count. When the tellers' report was completed the president of the senate repeated verbatim the closing sentence of the announcement made by him in the house relating to the declaration of the vote.

That sentence was as follows: "And the president makes this declaration only as a public statement in the presence of the two houses of congress and the contents of the paper opened and read on this occasion, and not as possessing any authority in law to declare any legal conclusion whatever."

Mr. Conger of Michigan said it be desired, as one of the members of the senate, to say that he entirely dissented from the declaration that the president of the senate or the vice-president had no other power in announcing that vote than to announce the fact, and he did not know by what authority that sentence had been made a part of the declaration.

Mr. Sherman said: "I also wish for myself, having put on record my opinion on this question at other times, to again assert and put on record my opinion that, if the declaration made was the declaration of the gentleman who presided on that occasion, expressing his own opinion, it should not be taken as a precedent except so far as it may commend the judgment of mankind hereafter. I believe that the vice-president of the United States declared and exercised a constitutional power when he presided over that body to-day and counted the vote, and that his announcement of the vote is conclusive of all argument upon the question, and that in doing so he not only gave his own opinion as the result of certain papers given to him, but that he made the only constitutional declaration provided for under the existing law as to who is to be president of the United States after the 4th of March."

After remarks by Messrs. Hoar, Lapham, Wilson and Ingalls on the subject the chair (Mr. Edmunds) said that he regarded the senate as in no way responsible for the declaration made by him. He had performed his constitutional duty, and on his own responsibility made the declaration referred to.

Mr. Ingalls offered the following resolution: "Resolved, that the senate does not assent to the concluding declaration of the president of the senate in the announcement of the vote for president and vice-president of the United States made in the presence of the two houses of congress this day."

Mr. Bayard: "Let that go over until tomorrow." The resolution went over accordingly.

Mr. Hoar offered the following resolution: "Whereas, the senate having met the house of representatives in accordance with the 5th section of the act of March, 1792 relative to the president and vice-president of the United States, and the electoral votes having been opened by the president of the senate in the presence of the two houses of congress and counted by the tellers appointed on the part of the two houses, and it appearing that the whole number of electors appointed to vote for president and vice-president of the United States is 401, of which a majority is 201, and it further appearing that Grover Cleveland of New York had received 219 votes for president of the United States, and that Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana had received 182 votes for vice-president of the United States, which is a majority of the votes of the whole number of electors appointed; and the same having been duly declared by the president of the senate in the presence of the two houses, therefore

"Resolved, that the senate is of the opinion that the constitution and laws have been duly executed, and that no further declaration of these facts is necessary."

The senate resumed consideration of the bill to repeal the pre-emption of timber culture laws, but after considerable discussion the bill was repealed. Some amendments were rejected. Pending their discussion the senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The galleries of the house were not opened until 10:15 this morning, and were soon crowded, and the steps were utilized for resting-places. That portion of the gallery reserved for the families and friends of the senators and representatives was occupied mainly by ladies, while the portion open to the general public was filled with gentlemen. The executive gallery was vacant and one diplomat sat in solitary state in the gallery reserved for the diplomatic corps.

Mr. Townsend of Illinois offered a resolution providing that during the remainder of the session the daily hour of meeting of the house shall be 11 o'clock. Referred.

Mr. McMillan of Tennessee offered a resolution directing the doorkeeper to admit to the floor the ladies having tickets issued for members of gallery during the joint session for the counting of the electoral votes.

Mr. Springer, from the committee on expenditures in the department of justice, reported the bill relating to the compensation of marshals and other United States officials. Placed on the house calendar. This is the bill incorporated in the last sundry civil service bill, but was stricken therefrom in the senate.

On the motion of Mr. Keifer the clerk of the house was instructed to inform the senate that at 12 o'clock the house would be prepared to receive that body in conformity with the provisions of the concurrent resolution relating to the counting of the electoral votes.

On the house being called to order, after the counting of the electoral votes, Mr. Keifer offered a resolution reciting the result of the joint convention of the two houses and declaring it the sense of the house that the constitution and laws had been duly executed and that no further declaration of these facts was necessary.

Mr. Springer said that it seemed from the announcement of the presiding officer of the joint convention that this was a declaration of the vote contrary to all precedent. The vice-president had surely declared that it appeared from the count made by the tellers that Cleveland received a certain number of votes, but he had not claimed any intention to make an official declaration of the result of that vote. He preferred that the matter be referred to the judiciary committee with instructions to report such resolution as is necessary for the purpose of making known the result of the election.

Speaker pro tem: "The presiding officer of the joint convention in making the announcement of the vote, announced the result that had been found, and simply added a disclaimer of any authority on his part to make any declaration at all."

Springer: "I move that the whole matter be referred to the judiciary committee."

The speaker: "In the judgment of the chair the declaration made by the presiding officer was exactly what it should have been."

Mr. Springer: "I have not asked the speaker for his opinion. I desire to state my own."

The speaker: "The chair, acting as the officer representing the house in joint convention, would have made a protest if any improper declaration by the presiding officer had been delivered."

Mr. Randall said that the vote of the electors had been announced, and that any ministerial proceeding was not essential to the main facts that Cleveland had been elected.

Mr. Hammond of Georgia thought that the joint convention having made its declaration, the house had nothing further to do with it.

Mr. Springer withdrew his motion, and Mr. Cox of New York, stating that the constitution declared who had been elected president and vice-president, moved that the resolution be laid on the table. Agreed to; yeas, 135; nays, 115.

Mr. Clay of Kentucky then offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, that two members of the house of representatives be appointed by the house and one member of the senate be appointed by that body to wait on Grover Cleveland in the state of New York and notify him that he has been duly elected president of the United States for four years, commencing the 4th of March, 1885, and also to notify Thomas A. Hendricks of the state of Indiana that he has been duly elected vice-president of the United States for four years, commencing with the 4th of March, 1885."

"That the president of the senate do make out and sign a certificate in the words following:

"Be it known that the senate and house of representatives, being convened in the city of Washington the second Wednesday of February, in the year of our Lord sixteen hundred and eighty-five, the undersigned president of the senate, pro tem, did in the presence of said senate and house of representatives open all the certificates, and all the votes of the electors for president and vice-president of the United States were then counted in the presence of the two houses, whereupon it appeared that Grover Cleveland of the state of New York had a majority of the votes of the electors as president, and that Thomas A. Hendricks of the state of Indiana had a majority of the votes of the electors as vice-president, by which it appears that Grover Cleveland of the state of New York has been duly elected president and Thomas A. Hendricks of the state of Indiana has been duly elected vice-president of the United States according to the constitution for a term of four years, beginning the 4th of March, 1885."

"It was then whereof I have herewith set my hand this 11th day of February, 1885, and have sealed with the seal of the senate."

"And that the committee hereby appointed when notifying the persons elected of their election to the office of president and vice-president of the United States shall present to each of them a duly authenticated copy of the foregoing certificate."

On the suggestion of Mr. Cox of New York the resolution was modified so as to make the committee consist of three representatives and two senators.

Mr. T. D. Taylor of Ohio moved to lay the resolution on the table; lost, 38 to 109.

Mr. Holman of Indiana moved to amend by striking out all that part of the resolution having reference to the certificate of election. Agreed to without division. The resolution as amended was agreed to.

The house then went into committee of the whole. Mr. Springer in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Mr. Horr offered an amendment increasing from $4,100,000 to $4,535,000 the appropriation for letter-carrier system.

Horr's amendment was agreed to, 100 to 61.

Mr. Skinner of New York offered an amendment providing that letter-carriers may be appointed when public business demanded it in places where the population was not less than 10,000 and where the gross revenue was not less than $10,000, or in several places near to each other where the aggregate population was 10,000 and the gross revenue not less than $10,000.

Pending the amendment the committee rose and the house adjourned.

It is the same as the bill reported by Representative Willis, from the river and harbor committee of the house, except the projected improvements of Sandy bay, Mass., and the Galveston harbor. The proposed construction of the Hennessey canal, and the provision making Capt. Eads advisory engineer of the Mississippi river commission, are not included in the bill.

Dynamite Seized in the Heart of London.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—An important seizure of dynamite was made last night by the police. Their attention had been directed to the suspicious movements of a man supposed to be an American, who some time before the explosion at the house of commons and the tower rented an unoccupied house in Harrow Road and fitted the ground floor up as a book-store. The man was seldom seen about the premises, and has not been seen at all in the neighborhood since the recent explosions. The fact induced the police to place the book-store under surveillance and finally made the seizure. On the ground floor was found a large quantity of dynamite. At the time of the seizure the book-store was in charge of a man of American appearance and accent.
